SAWED THROUGH THE BARS.

Tillman Jacobs, a Prisoner at the Workhouse, Escapes at Night.

Tillman Jacobs, a prisoner at the county workhouse, escaped between 8 and 9 o'clock last night by sawing through the inch bars of the cell room and letting himself down to the ground on the outside with a rope. Jacobs was sent to the workhouse in May for trying to cut a stableman at Schofield's stable, and his sentence included a $500 fine and six months imprisonment, A short time after beginning his term he was made a cell room boss, and was allowed to remain on the outside of the cells after closing time. A part of his duties was to feed sick prisoners, and in this way be secured an old caseknife, it is believed, and converted it into a file. From the clothes room he evidently secured a rope, which he concealed for several days. It must have taken him almost a week to saw through the bars of the window, which is in the rear of the cell room, and concealed from the view of the prisoners.

When the night turnkey went to the cell, room, about 9 o'clock last night, he found Jacobs missing, with nothing to tell of his whereabouts except the severed bars and the rope hanging from the outside of the window. Jacobs is a young man, very tall, and wears a black mustache.

HERE WAS A BOLD THIEF.

Made a Practice of Stealing Wheat by the Wagon Load.

William Buckles, residing at No. 382 Lafayette street, was placed under arrest yesterday by detectives Kinney and Richards on the charge of burglary. Buckles is a colored man who has, for some time past, been engaged in the wholesale stealing of wheat. Last Saturday it is claimed that he broke open a car on the side track near Elevator C. and carted off several bushels of grain. He sold the wheat to William Geyer, at 191 Indiana avenue, where it was found by the detectives. The prisoner also carried off six bushels of wheat from the Acme mills a few days since. With a wonderful assurance in his ability to evade detection, Buckles has been storing the grain in a vacant house on the canal near his home, and selling at his pleasure.

Designs for Reviewing Stands Discussed by the Committee, Colonel Lilly Again Denounces the "Forced. March" Scheme-lows Department -Various Notes.

The committee on grand stands met last night, with S. F. Hayes chairman. Rids for the construction of the grand stand for the reviewing officers of the parade were referred to the executive officers of the board. Albert Gall and Eastman, Schleicher & Lee submitted designs for the grand stand, the latter submitting two, the second of which was referred to the executive officers as the choice of the committee. It is in Corinthian style, with six pillars, center surmounted by eagle, spread of wings six feet. Columns on either side sprmounted by American flags, stand being twenty-eight feet high from ground, six feet from floor to ground. Dr. Buchanan and Measrs. Bertermann and Bennett were appointed a committee to see about use of chairs in Tomlinson Hall.

The price of the 1,400 seats on the stand was placed at $1.50 each.

Will Use Historie Instruments. Major Robert H. Hendershot, the drummer boy of the Kappahannock, was among the visitors at headquarters, yesterday, to get information of the camp fires of encampment week. He'is coming here to entertain the veterans without cost, and looking for no reward except what the pleasure of being with the old soldiers and contributing to their enjoyments will give him. He will have with him his son, J. C., the fifer, and his daughter, Miss Daisy, who beats the bass drum. The Major will use the drum given him by Horace Greeley, from whom he has a letter of high recommendation. The letter is one of a package the Major always carries with him, | tire week. The cost would be insignificant establish his identity as the "original drummer boy of the Rappahannock." Among the contributors to this package were Abraham Lincoln, General Grant, ex-President Harrison, F. E. Spinner, Generals Hurlbert and Burnside, and others prominent in the history of the war. The Major, when eleven years old, in 1861, passed through this city with Company C, of the Ninth Michigan, on its way to Louisville. In July, 1862, he was taken prisoner at Murfreesboro, and upon being released joined the Eighth Michigan on the Rappahannock, serving with that regiment through the war.

Iowa Department Committee, The subcommittee on recaptions of the departments have a duty to perform that has never been undertaken at any other encampments. They aresto see that everything is made pleasant for the officers and delegates whom they will meet at the Union Station and escort to their headquarters. It will be required, too, of these committees that their respective departments have no trouble in going about Indianapolis, and that they attend them to the reception at Tomlinson Hall, Monday evening of the encampment week. This will require more or less preparation, and the committee that is to attend the lows officers and delegates is among those that want to get their programmes arranged early. Of this committee M. G. McLain is chairman, the other members being Rev. D. R. Lucae, D. D., Noble C. Butler, Grafton Johnson, Judge W. A. Woods, C. S. Denny and Lucian A. Foote, the last named of Crawfordsville. The committee will meet Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, in Room 137 Denison House. Mr. McLain has written to Department Commander Schaller, of lowa, to ascertain when he and his staff, with the lowa delegates, expect to reach the city.

Low Rates to Begin Earlier. The granting of the one-cent-a-mile rate to the encampment, not to become effective before Sept. 3, was a matter of some concern to the citizens' executive board, as it shut out the naval veterans and others who desired the low rate previous to that time. The request, therefore, was made to have the rate go into effect the week beginning Aug. 28, and this Chairman Lazarus, of the committee on transportation, informs the board has been granted. All the representatives of the Central Traffic Association except one at once expressed willingness to have the rate fixed on the August date, and when the matter was explained to him he, also, voted for it, so the change was made unanimously. This makes the one cent a mile good from Aug. 28 to the 5th of September, coming, and until the 16th of September returning, applying to all points east of Chicago. The Western Passenger Association is to take up the encampment rate question again this month, and favorable action is looked for.

"Forced March" Again Denounced. The "forced march" scheme has been condemned time and again by the citizens' executive board. The board not only has nothing to do with it, but discountenances it in the strongest terms. The following. in this connection, explains itself:

Dr. E. S. Elder, Medical Director, Indianapolis, Ind Dear Sir and Comrade-The arrangements of the medical corps must contemplate no expense nor embrace any services for cases arising from the forced march, advertised to be held in this city at the time of the National Encampment. This is a private money-making scheme, of which I strongly disapprove. I can see in it none but harmful results, and I regard it as a very objectionable affair, which should have no manner of countenance from our organization. I have publicly warned veterans against it, and must now give fair notice to all who heedlessly risk their health, perhaps their lives, in a physical contest which few of them are prepared to endure, that they cannot, in case of unfortunate results, become a burden upon the people of Indianapolis. Very truly yours, in F., C. and L.,

ELI LILLY, Chairman. Will Increase Facilities.

WORK OF THE ENCAMPMENT crease their supplies of stamps, wrappers, envelopes and postal cards. There will be a large increase in the outgoing paper mail, as officers, delegates and visitors will send to their homes thousands of papers giving accounts of the encampment.

> Aged Army Nurse Coming. In a letter to Mrs. Thomas L. Sullivan, as chairman of the ladies' reception com mit-Angeles, Cal., that it is her purpose to visit the encampment if her physical condition will permit her to undergo the fatigue of travel. Mrs. Ransom is seventy-eight years of age, and was one of a company of twenty-five army nurses who left here in February. 1843, to go South. She met with an accident some weeks ago, dislocating her left wrist and breaking the arm. She is a delegate to the national convention of the W. C. T. U. at Chicago, and alternate to the convention of the W. R. C. here. She left Indiana in 1876 for California.

Marion County G. A. R. Battalion. At a meeting of the officers of the several posts in this city it was agreed to have the posts of Marion county turn out as a battalion in the parade, the post having the largest membership being accorded the colonel, the second in membership the lieutenant colonel, and so on. This will give George H. Thomas Post the coloneley; Chapman Post the lientenant colonel; Anderson Post the senior major, and Gordon Post the second major, and the next in size the third major. The battalion should turn out 1,500 strong.

A Suggestion Worth Considering. To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journals

Reading your editorial "Personal Courtesy" in the Sunday issue-in regard to directing strangers and answering their questions during encampment week-I would suggest a plan whereby our visitors would know whom to address and who, by their "sign," would be an invitation to ask any question under the sun and receive a civil answer. It has successfully been tried in other cities. The executive committee of the G. A. R. should have printed, either on card or ribbon, the following—"I'm a citizen of Indianapolis." These could be distributed among business men, clerks, local Grand Army men and citizens in general. to be worn on the coat lapel during the enmense. It would also leave undisturbed those few who would not don the card.

The railroads centering here have begun to use liberally the advertising columns of newspapers throughout this and other States, calling attention to the very cheap rate to the encampment. There is a demand for boarding houses slong the route of the parade. It is difficult for the citizens' executive board to meet all requests in that respect, as there are comparatively few houses of the kind on the Chairman Walker, of the committee on receptions, has received the acceptances of all out of town appointed on the subcommittees to attend the departments. They express great interest in the encampment and a zeal to make it a success. The reunion of the Fifty-third Regiment, Indiana Veteran Volunteer Infantry, will be held at the Brunswick Hotel, on Circle street, on the first day of the encampment, All comrades of that regiment are earn-

AT THE RELIGIOUS CAMPS

State Sunday-School Convention Assembles at Bethany Park.

tee, Mrs. Eleanor Ransom writes from Los | Lines of Work That Have Been Followed-Assembly Lectures-A Quiet Day at Camp Acton.

> After the departure of the last of the Sunday visitors, early Monday morning. Bethany Park settled down to the enjoyment of another beautiful, quiet day. The grounds were by no means deserted, however, for the State Sunday-school convention, of which this is the second day, drew large numbers. Among the morning arrivals were Prof. A. R. Benton and Prof. D. C. Brown of Irvington, Mr. Joseph Franklin of Beaford, O. S. Reed of Noblesville, Mr. Albert Cole of Indianapolis and Mr. Knox. Taylor of Bloomington, Ill. The morning devotions were unusually well attended and were led by Miss Lois White. Dr. Lucas was heard at 9, in the sixth and last of his talks to preachers. His subject, yesterday morning, was "Pulpit Sensationalism." and he spoke in a particularly earnest style. Dr. Lucas said that what is called pulpit sensationalism is creating sensation for notoriety's sake. This is wrong. It is dore, first, by announcing a subject in a sensational way; second, by saying odd things, such as are indulged in by Sam Jones in his stang phrases; third, by peculiar actions on the part of ministers of the gospel.

> The sensationalism produced by the statement of truth, however, is a good thing in that it impresses what one hears on the memory.
> The State Sunday-school convention > opened at 9:30. Mr. T. J. Legg. State Sunday-school evangelist, read his report, which was long and covered a great deal of ground. Three lines of work were carried out during the past year: First-A system of co-operation among the schools, and embracing a system of reporting, whereby a complete census of the work can be had once a quarter. Second-The establishment of teachers' meetings and normal training classes for an elementary Bible course. Third-The multiplication of day schools, forty-seven having organized during the year, Mr. Legg submitted the following reso-

1. That the three lines of work be con-2. That county motitutes be held as often and as soon as possible. 3. That every Sunday school be requested to indicate at once the amount of money it is willing to pay.

4. That the Christian Endeavor societies of the State be invited to contribute to the State Sunday school work. 5. That this association request the Bethany Assembly board to arrange a reading course to be known as the Bethany Assembly Reading Course, comprising a home and foreign missionary department, Sunday school and Christian Endeavordepartment. Mr. Joseph Franklin, of Bedford, Ind., president of the association, was then heard in a brief address upon the work to be done in the Sunday-school.

The assembly lecture was delivered by

H. L. Willett, of Dayton, O. That Mr. Willett had made an impression upon his hearers in his Sunday morning sermon was demonstrated by the number who were again his attentive listeners on Monday. He was enthusiastically received, and the audience signified its hearty appreciation and sympathy by frequent applause. Mr. Willett took for his subject "New Continents," and the address proved one of the finest of the course. Mr. Willett commenced with the discovery of America by Columbus, and spoke of the difficulties surrounding the undertaking and the objects which inspired it. These were not only a desire to find out how the world was constructed, but also to subingate and to possess. He reviewed briefly the exploration of this new country by discoverer, merchant and missionary, until it had become the most wonderful in the world. From the growth of the country the speaker passed to the growth of the race. As there are four periods in the growth of man, so there are four in the growth of a race: 1. A period of measurement. 2. One of harmony. 3. One of investigation. 4. One of purpose. In treating of the fourth period Mr. Willett said: "As to what the purpose of a nation is, take our own. What is America for? It is to give and to teach political, social and individual life. In literature, too, we find these four periods: Dickens setting forth the measurements of men's lives, Hugo contrasting and comparing them. George Eliot giving the causes. while in the Bible is to be found the answer to the last, viz.: The purpose of one's life. At 2 in the afternoon devotional exercises were resumed, consisting of songs and informal talks. At this meeting the ollowing committees appointed: And ing committee, W. E. M. Brown, R. H. Wagoner, D. K. Carver; resolution committee, E. B. Schofield, W. T. Sellars, A. M. Atkinson; ways and means committee, W. M. Franklin, John Brazelton, F. M. Wiles: nomination committee, Neal McLeod, D.

R. Lucas, William Cunningham. At 3 o'clock Mr. Knox P. Taylor, State evangelist of Illinois Sunday schools, was heard in an address upon Sunday-school work, offering suggestions for help in such WORK. He said the work was yet in its infancy as far as its influence was concerned, and that its success depended more on formative than reformative work. Mr. knox declared that the average preaching of the day does not enrich as much as the Sunday-school work, and stated that no society of any sort could take the place of the Sunday school. Mr. Taylor closed with a few remarks as to how a school should be conducted. At the evening meeting a paper was read by Mrs. A. B. Stanton, of Logansport, upon "Music in Sunday Schools," the music of the evening consisting of Sunday-school songs. At 8 o'clock Mr. Taylor again addressed a good-sized audience upon "Christ in the Bible.'

At Camp Acton. .

Monday morning saw a large exodus of the business men from Camp Acton, but enough are left to yet make it a populous little city. In a tour of the grounds it can be found that but ten out of a hundred and fifty cottages are unoccupied, and these are old ones scarcely fit for habitation.

The day was quiet after the busy scenes of Sunday. At 2:30 Professor Hudson led a social meeting. A fair number were present, and an active interest was shown in it. In the evening Rev. A. Lewellyn, of Greenfield, preached from Romans i, 16. The gospel is the power of God unto salvation, furnishing a solution for every problem of life, reforming bad governments and other social ills. A well-filled altar service closed the work of the day. The late train to Indianapolis will stop every night at the camp hereafter, and in consequence a much larger transient attendance is expected. This afternoon Dr. J. H. Martin will lecture, and in the evening Rev. E. A. Campbell will preach. Dr. Moore, of the Western Christian Advocate, will preach Thursday, and Dr. Buchtel Friday and Saturday. Arrangements are being made for a band concert by the Snelbyville Cornet Band for next Saturday afternoon and evening.

An Obliging Doctor.

Yesterday an individual called at the office of Dr. Chevis, at No. 824 Indiana avenue, and requested the Doctor to write out a prescription for an attack of sickness. The physician did as requested and the patient started to depart. As he left the office, he noticed the Doctor's bicycle in the hallway and coolly inquired if he could borrow the vehicle long enough to take a ride around the square. Dr. Chevis happened to be in an obliging humor on this occassion and gracefully granted the loan. Last night he called at police headquarters with a description of the man, who has thus far failed to return the wheel.

Instructed to Investigate the Recent Prize Fight at Broad Ripple.

Charges of Fraud by the Unsecured Creditors of the Stone Furniture Company-Bank Suit Withdrawn.

THIS IS NOT LAKE COUNTY. Grand Jury Will Investigate the Ripple Fight and Indict Those Connected with It. The grand jury convened yesterday morning, and were instructed by Judge Cox, before retiring to their investigation crimes and misdemeanors. They were given special instructions upon the law pertaining to prize fighting, and to inquire closely into the alleged violation of the law in this county at a recent date. They were told that if they found that there had been prize fighting in this county it was their duty to return indictments against all persons in any way participating therein. While no specific reference was made to any particular time or place where the law as regards prize fighting was said to have been violated, it was well known that the court referred to the prize fight which recently occurred at Broad Ripple, under the auspices of our local Roby organization.

STONE FURNITURE COMPANY.

Unsecured Creditors Allege Fraud and Want

- to Quiz the Directors. In the Circuit Court, yesterday afternoon, evidence was heard upon the petition of the unsecured creditors of the D. E. Stone Furniture Company, for an order of examination against the directors of the company. The petition alleges that the company has been insolvent from the time of its organization, and that not more than 50 per cent. of its capital stock of $75,000 has ever been paid in. It alleges that it has fraudulently given preference to certain creditors by mortgage, among which are the Bank of Commerce to the amount of $20,000 on two chattel mortgages for $10,000 each, and J. O. Henderson on an assignment of accounts and bills to the amount of $6,500 to secure a claim for $6,000. The total amount of indebtedness is alleged to be about $40,000, of which $11,000 is unsecared. The petitioners ask that the court order the directors of the company for the past year to appear at a time and place set by the court, and answer such questions as may be propounded by the petitioners concerning the business of the company, and the preference given certain specified creditors under mortgage.

HARDY AGAIN IN COURT.

Execution Issued Against Him from Justice

Habich's Shop. Execution was issued from Justice Habich's court, yesterday, against James G. W. Hardy in favor of Jesse Egan on a note for $100, and was levied by Constable Cook upon Hardy's household forniture. Hardy, it will be remembered, was brought into a great deal of prominence a few months ago through a sensational suit filed against him by his daughter, Ceoil Hardy, an actress, in which she alleged that he had squandered an estate belonging to her upon a woman of the town, and asked judgment against him for about $35,000.

In Police Court, Arthur Brown presided as special judge in the Police Court yesterday morning. Stephen Holland was arraigned for grand larceny and his case continued till Aug. 10. Crane was arrested for profanity, malicious trespass and assault and battery upon the affidavit of Mrs. Lida Harding, the keeper of a small ice cream parlor at No. 237 West Washington street. Mrs. Harding says that Crane came into her place and asked for change for a dollar bill, and whe she told him she did not have it be proceeded to devastate the place. She says that, in addition to cursing her, he tore her clothes and iscerated the lace curtains about the place. Crane says she gave him a counterfeit bill.

Put Her Ere Out. Lena Wortman yesterday filed suit against Joseph Bly and Maggie Spann, asking $10,000 damages for personal injuries inflicted upon her by young Bly. Mrs. Spann is made defendant as the mother of Bly. who is under age, and the complaint is made by Frank Wortman, as next friend for the actual plaintiff. The complaint alleges that during lass month the plaintiff, who was residing with her parents, was engaged at work about the premises when she was brutally assaulted by the defendant Bly with a sharp stick of wood. She charges him with having struck her in the right eye and the loss of the sight thereof as a consequence.

An Agreeing Family.

Adelheid Hofmeister, widow of the late Nicholas Holmeister, by her attorney, Will F. A. Bernhamer, as executrix of the last will and testament of her husband, filed the first and final report in said estate with Probate Clerk Buskirk yesterday. This report proves how easily and cheaply an estate can be settled where there is entire harmony among those interested. It shows that although the testator left a number of tracts of real estate, the whole estate was bequeathed to the widow. No claims were filed, the children all indorsed the report that the mother should take all under the will, and the total costs of administration were $15.50.

Suit Against Scott & Co. Withdrawn. The suit of the Bank of Commerce against William Scott & Co. for $6,000 alleged to be due upon a note was dismissed yesterday at the cost of the plaintiff. The suit was the result of a misunderstanding, and as soon as Scott & Co. received the summons the differences were amicably adjusted.
